

GCOM-C/SGLI data using policy

2025/10/24

Commercial purpose

- a. Any user can utilize GCOM-C data for commercial purpose without an agreement of intellectual property utilization authorization with JAXA, and without paying a royalty fee.
- b. GCOM-C data is provided by G-Portal in principle. Access to G-Portal requires user registration.

Rights associated with the data

- a. JAXA shall own all intellectual property rights, including but not limited to copyrights of all GCOM-C data JAXA provides.
- b. If a user has generated high-level, value-added data products (*1), the user shall retain the intellectual property rights of such products. JAXA shall not exercise its copyrights (rights as the copyright holder of the original data) and any other intellectual property rights in relation to such high-level, value-added products generated by the user and the user is entitled to use such products.

*1) High-level, value-added data products are modified products, those that have been modified by applying high-level data processing (data analyses or a combination of satellite data acquired by different missions, image processing based on external information other than the original data, or conversion of physical quantities) for which a user's copyright is acknowledged, and which are irreversible to the original data.
